

Department on Disability Services
Developmental Disabilities Administration
Basic Assurance Standards Authorization Review (BASA)
2007 – April 30, 2009 Provider Assessment Results

In April 2007, the Department on Disability Services (DDS) through the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA) began assessing residential providers. The Basic Assurance Standards Authorization (BASA) is the current provider review process that assesses whether a provider is performing in accordance with the DDS, Human Care Agreement to provide supports and services to people with disabilities in the District of Columbia.

There are seven (7) standards assessed. Each one measures in some part how well a provider protects the health, safety, and well being of people. When the BASA assessment is passed, it demonstrates that the provider has the ability to ensure people are treated with respect and dignity and are free from abuse, neglect, and mistreatment.

The chart below lists the District's residential provider results from the BASA. To receive authorization from DDA, a provider must pass all seven (7) standards by meeting 90% of standard's ten (10) Performance Measures. If you see more than one column of percentages by each standard that means the provider needed more than one review to meet the BASA authorization criteria. If a provider needs more than three (3) reviews, DDA will no longer authorize people to receive services through that provider. The DDA staff will work with people with disabilities and their families to move people (if necessary) to BASA authorized providers for services.
